

Frontwave Machine - Earthrise

Choking down my tube food
Looking through the window
I see a clear horizon
Waiting for the earthrise
Preparing for a moonwalk
Checking my spacesuit
I open the gate of command module and breathe

No noise
Nothing moves under a black sky
I'm about to see the earthrise

Jumping in the white dust
Looking forward to the earthrise
I stumble over my feet
And fall down a crater

There's a crack in my visor
Vaccum
There's no time for a state of shock
Panic breaks out
My lungs burst and the blood in my veins start to boil
I feel the cold
I feel the cold
I feel the cold

Out there's no atmosphere
Only shadow or light
I will never see the earthrise
I will never see the earthrise
I will never see the earthrise

I will never see the earthrise
I will never see the earthrise
I will never see the earthrise

Text written by Holger Müller
Music by Frontwave Machine
Lyrics and music © qp0 records